FUNERAL FLATTERY.

THE DISPLAY OVER THE DEATH OF CLARENCE WILDER YOUNG LELAND STANFORD.

Magnificent Manifestations of Grief-Elaborate Public Services-Fulsome Rhapsody from the Patpit-Money from Family Wee.

[San Francisco Cor. New York Sun.] The magnificence of the Stanfords' grist over the death of their son Leland, Jr., has never be a equalled on this coast. The per-formances of the family and their friends are the thoms of talk in every circle. The great we sith of the Stanfords has attracted to them in this hour of affliction all the toams west of the Rocky mountains and some from the east. Their grist has not been permitted to slumber for an instant. Someboly woo has had an ax to grin! has been ever at han i with a sonned, an o.i.e. a dirge, a song, a serm m, or an oration. Sil y women who never siw the lat have written and called to testify to the family the esteem in which they held the boy and to dilate upon his qualities. Portrait paint ers, monument builders, dealers in memorial windows, writers and posts, preactors and and politician, photographers, boys who hypocratically present to have been im-pressed by young Stanton's life, and scores of others, have made manay ont of the fam-

Leland Stanford, Jr., was an emiable by n t particularly smart or handsom; whose death was noticed sle because of his propective earthly riches and the natural sor-row of his parents. The boy was never strong, and during the greater part of hi life was unfor the tubership of a mail. Walls in Rome last March he died, and he soon as its parents could get to him elaborate public services were held in that cit. E form as crowd; attended because it became not ed about that an American Cros us was in affliction. Proceeding acro's the con-tinent and channel to England, further service: were held in Liverpool before sailing for America, and once in New York the remains we s laid in a vau t for several mont a until preparations were comple e for their internt here. While tarring in the metropohis monthly ervess were held over the re-maint. On the journey across the con inen-a special train was used, and the care and becomptive were almost buried in craps.

As soon after their arrival here as possible, the train was out on to Stanfor I's country seat at Menlo park, where a magnificent vault had been erected, into which the remains were put. The vault is a vast and massive structure, made entirely of stone and iron. Its interior is as magnificent as an Oriental palace. The wals are entirely covered with purple velvet embossed with gold, and the drappries are rich beyond degold, and the draperies are rich beyond description, consisting of the costlic tentric and the heaviest bullion. The vanit is connected with the mansion and the servants. quarters by electric wire , and one or mor armed wa chmen are continually on guar. in front of its ponderous ga ea-

But the preformance which has made the most talk and subjected the afflicted family to the most criticism is that waich took place in Grace Episcopal church under the gaise of funeral services, at which the Rac. J. P. Nawman, recently of Naw York was the principal speaker. The services were advertised all through the city, and naturally enough the crowd that assemiled at the church was much larger than could get within the edifi e. The floral decoration; were o the most gor geous description. The changel through the church there were elaborat pieces made of the contlient flowers to be bad in America. Not less than $33,000 was expended for flowers for this occasion alone.

Dr. Newman male a long address, intende: principally to flatter the parent, which sounded like the rhap olies of a court chaplain over the remains of a departed princi His address is now in circulation hers as a curiosit, and it is everywhere pronounced the most fulsome ever delivered in the west ern hemisphere. No funeral oration over Washington, Jefferson, Adams, or Lincoin contains a titbe of the praise lavished up a this poor by, who e only achievement was to dis. Nawman found that he had the widom and pulle ophy of a Baron, the keen foresight and penetration of a Richelies the beauty of Apillo Belviders, the artistic taste of Michael Angelo, the eye promise of a Hamilton, the el quence of Pitt, the philanthropy of a Peabody, th tendernes of a Piscal, and the station notes of a Gibbon; and he predicted that for generation to come the youth of the country, recognising in Lehnad Stauford, Jr., a savior, would visit his tomb for inspiration and that his example would be as a biscolight to all the nations. The suggestion that young Stanford had been a savior to the you is manbolof the world was not exremind him of another point of similarity between the dead Chaffornian an I the Victim of Calvary. "Like our dear Lelant," sail Newman, "the Baviour also diet young." It is said around town that Gen. Grant's old pastor received $13,000 for this pre clou dis-

A discussion growing out of the funeral service, and which promines to be hear from again, is that, cau of by the Episcopal clergyman in other parts of the coast over the fact that Newman, a Methodist preacher, occupied the pulpit of Grace charge in vis-lation of the rubric. The bishop of the do cose was present at the service thus givin; countenance to the proceeding, and the rector of the caureb, of which Stanford is one of the wardens, says no objection can be found to Newman's presence, as he took no part in the services of the church. He was present simply as a frient of the family, and made his remarks as any laymen might have done. The rector says he does not expect to hear any further objection. Among the conservative members of the church, however, there is a disposition to find fault with Newman's invasion of the Episcopalian

The services just held were the fifth cele-brated over the remains. It is the intention of the family to have a grand memorial service next March on the anniversary of the lad's death, and thereafter the day be commemorated each year. Mr. Stanford already has several benevolent projects on foot waich will be carried out in the name of his son, and Mrs. Stanford has given liberally to many charitable institutions to hi-choose rather not to be than not to be some-
